

Online Training Series “The diversity of learners”

The 3rd session

“Color Universal Design”

2, October 2022(Sun.)11:00-13:00 (Mexico City time, UTC-5)

Do you know “Color Universal Design”?

Colors are perceived differently by different people. Some people have difficulty distinguishing red from green or dark red from black. color universal design.

“Color universal design” is the concept of providing products, facilities, buildings, services, and information with color schemes that are accessible to as many people as possible in response to this diversity in color vision.

Is the ppt you create easy to read and understand for all learners? What colors would be effective in making keywords stand out or inserting color charts and diagrams? If you are interested in such things, please join us to learn universal color design!
